CTAA August Meeting Minutes 2

President Gale Cochran-Smith opened the meeting.

We discussed upcoming services for Rusty Cook, an artist friend who had recently been killed in a car accident. Various memorial issues were suggested, but no motions.

The Treasurer's report showed $1,828.80 after award payments had been made at the Art Show. CTAA made $799.50 from Soon Warren's workshop, and $170 from the Art Show judge donating her fee back to CTAA.

Gale with Larry discussed the September and October meetings.

Upcoming programs:

September 13 – Larry's studio in Nocona. We'll arrive at 5:00 and go to dinner at the Pizzeria, then head back to Larry's studio.

October 11 – Larry has scheduled Michael Sloat, a helicopter pilot and nationally known photographer.

We've also scheduled Soon Warren's 2019 watercolor workshop for July 19, 20, 21. If you haven't been to one, put it on your calendar, and plan to attend.

Gale mentioned that Willetta Crow has a show at the Kemp.

We welcomed returning member, Jan Reid.

Jennifer Hammer has won the Patron's Award at the Breckenridge Art Show, for her pastel painting of Heart of the Trail.

Gale turned the meeting over to Larry who introduced Debbie Malone for a session on acrylic pouring. Debbie is also conducting an acrylic pour workshop on August 11, at the Tales N Trails Museum in Nocona.

Debbie's artist statement is: "My work is utterly incomprehensible, and is therefore full of deep significance." Debbie is multi-talented - she also designs glass jewelry, but tonight is all about acrylic pouring. She showed some of her art and demo'd that it will look like different things, if viewed from different angles. She said you can use all kinds of paint in an acrylic pour – as long as it's acrylic. Windsor Newton, regular house paint, liquitex acrylic paint, craft paints, Grumbacher, are among the paints she will use at any given time. She will also use Elmer's glue, silicone spray or liquid like Treadmill oil, or 3 in 1 silicone oil to mix with the paints prior to pouring. After the painting has dried, she'll use something like Minwax polyethylene to seal it.

Debbie uses a box with wax or parchment paper on the bottom, and uses push pins to keep the canvas up off the paper. That way the canvas doesn't get stuck on the paper when the paint is poured and being manipulated for design. She demonstrated the "flip cup" method tonight. Debbie pours the colors she feels like using into small, dixie-like paper cups. She then adds the Elmer's glue, and a squirt or two of silicone. The paint is stirred, and you need a consistency that pours like heavy cream. If it's too thick, can be thinned with a small amount of water.

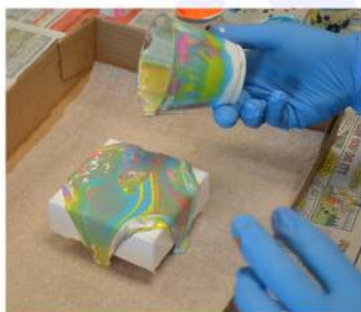

In the "flip cup," a small, clear plastic cup, you add white paint to the mark at the bottom of the cup, then add the other colors until you fill maybe $\frac{1}{4}$ of the cup for small canvases. Minimal stir crosswise (4), and then put the canvas on top of the cup and flip. Let it sit for a minute – sometimes add color around it on the canvas. Pull the cup, and start working the canvas to move the paint. No two paintings will ever be the same. Debbie also showed how she uses a heat gun on some of the paintings, to bring the under colors up to the top. We really enjoyed tonight's presentation from Debbie, and a few of us will also be attending her workshop on August 11.

Artist of the Month was Jan Reid for her painting, "Rays of Redemption".

Debbie Malone

CTAA August Meeting

Debbie Malone brought us the magic of acrylic poured painting techniques. The possibilities are endless with this method! Several of us in the group also attended her workshop at the Tales 'N Trails Museum in Nocona after watching her show us how it is done.

A messy but really fun way to create art!
Catch one of Debbie's workshops around the area!
Thank you Debbie!

Artist of the Month Jan Reid

Congratulations to returning member Jan Reid for winning the Artist of the Month for her painting: Rays of Redemption.
